

APPENDIX A

REISSUE APPLICATION DECLARATION BY DONALD Z. ROGERS

This is a broadening reissue. Certain elements are generically described in the specification and more specifically described in connection with the preferred embodiment of the invention. Certain of the issued claims include language specific to some of the elements of the preferred embodiment of the invention. In a discussion with my attorneys, I became aware that language specific to the preferred embodiment in the claims could be argued to be limitations on the scope of protection for my generic invention, limitations which I believe are not warranted by the prior art known to me. The newly added claims include more generic language.
